

Nevada Casinos: Departmental Revenues, 1984-2011

Breakdown of Nevada casino resort revenues generated by Gaming, Rooms, Food, Beverage, and Other Departments, since 1984.

Nevada casino resorts have always been about more than just gambling; in addition to their gaming floors, they also have hotel rooms, restaurants, bars, nightclubs, entertainment venues, and retail shopping. Over the past several years, the revenue pattern of the industry has shifted, as gaming itself has become less important to the overall revenue picture. The following charts feature historic and current data on casino revenue, broken down by department, for five reporting areas: Statewide, Las Vegas Strip, Downtown Las Vegas, Boulder Strip, and Washoe County.

Executive Summary

The five reporting areas in this study (with one notable exception): followed the same general pattern: gaming win, as a percentage of total revenue, has declined over the past 25 years, chiefly because of the emergence of lodging, dining, and nightlife components of casino resorts as revenue centers.

Statewide: The percentage of gaming revenue fell from 62% to 46%, with rooms and “other” (chiefly entertainment and retail) making the largest gains.

Las Vegas Strip: This area saw the most dramatic change, with gaming win dropping from 59% of total revenue to just under 38%. Given the rise of high-ticket entertainment and retail on the Strip, it’s not surprising that the percentage of Other income more than doubled.

Downtown Las Vegas: Gaming still produces a majority of revenue here, but rooms have increased their share by nearly five times.

Boulder Strip: Gaming actually increased its share of the revenue pie here, as other departments still largely exist to enhance slot revenues.

Washoe County: This area saw the same general trend as the Strip, but at a more muted pace.
