

Nevada Gaming Statistics: November Historical Comparison

Summary of 10-Year Revenue Trends

November 2016 saw declines in some reporting areas but increases in others, as the Strip declined.

Statewide, casino win fell by 1.47% despite a 1.48% growth in slot win. Slot handle increased by 2.07%, so slot win would have been higher if hold percentage had not fallen. Game win, however, fell by 6.52%, largely due to a decline in baccarat win (see immediately below).

Las Vegas Strip casinos lost ground in both slots (-2.70%) and games (-4.23%) for very different reasons. Slot handle increased, but a smaller hold percentage meant that overall win fell. Conversely, table hold grew, while an overall smaller handle meant that win declined. Baccarat win shrank by 23.16%, with both handle and hold shrinking.

Downtown Las Vegas had a down month, with a 7.70% drop in slot win dragging down results. Overall slot play increased by 4.86%, though, and it was only a lower hold that decreased win. Game win grew by 1.18%, despite a lower hold percentage, due to a substantially larger (+11.75%) handle. Total win declined by 5.34%.

On the Boulder Strip, a touchstone for the locals market, had a positive month, with overall win up by 3.35%. The 7.50% growth in slot win paced this increase, as game win fell by 24.60% despite a 5.31% jump in hold percentage.

Washoe County showed a slight increase in overall win (1.11%) due to an 8.67% growth in slot win. Game win fell by 23.90% despite an increase in handle because of (no surprise) a 26.12% drop in hold percentage.
